Connecting you to your tenants with wireless Internet access

Finally, an Internet service provider that compliments your property.

No-hassle installation

Incipient makes the setup process simple and easy by performing all stages of the installation. We will procure the necessary equipment, data services and materials. Taking the hassle out of providing wireless Internet is our primary focus, saving you time and resources to conduct your business without added frustration.

Simplifying customer access

Using wireless Internet has become even easier for customers through our homepage redirection. The user experience is as simple as opening their Internet browser, and logging on with an existing account.

Better than broadband

Your tenants will benefit from a quality network they can trust and gain from the ability to utilize a large and growing number of locations where Incipient's Internet access already exists. For residential customers, this translates to a service that provides unparalleled mobility and value.

More than just wireless Internet

Internet access provides a significant enhancement to your properties. High quality tenants, a competitive service offering and increased revenue can be realized. Since Incipient is a Wireless Internet Service Provider, there is no need to pay a separate fee for broadband or other data feeds to your location; we can provide all the necessary equipment, installation, service and support.
